The mills, as now arranged, are capable of producing from seven to eight tons per week, and, with slight additions, the productive power might be considerably increased. There is an almost inexhaustible supply of spring water; and rags of all description may be procured in the locality at remarkably low prices. Ipswich is within 70 miles of London, and is immediate connection with railway and water carriage. The estate is all freehold, and comprises, besides the mills, a newly erected dwelling-house suitable for a manager or resident partner. The entire extent of ground is upwards of one acre. The machinery consists chiefly of three strand engines, of eight, sixteen, and forty-horse power; eight rag engines, two paper machines, two Ransom's patent sizing and drying machines, two cutting machines, four sets of glazing rolls; hydraulic presses for half-sized and paper; bleaching engine; and stone vats. The mills may be seen at work, and early possession may be had. The exclusive right of using Ransom's patent sizing and drying machines in the counties of Suffolk, Norfolk, Essex, and Cambridgeshire, without payment of royalty, will be conveyed in the sale. A fair proportion of the purchase-money may remain on mortgage, at 4½ per cent.—For further particulars, conditions of sale, and the lease to view, apply to Messrs. The land will be judiciously lotted out, a large proportion for buildings of a superior class, and provision will be made for securing purchasers from the deteriorating effects of an indiscriminate appropriation of a adjoining lots. The sale will include two capital Freehold detached Private Residences, with Green and Forcing Houses, Gardens, and Grounds, situate in New-lane, at the top of George-street, in the respective occupations of T. L. Robinson and Edward Russell, Esqrs. The limits of an advertisement forbid any leathered commentary, but it may be briefly added, that the circumstances under which the sale take place, coupled with the unusually high character of the land for a first-rate building scheme, cannot fail to render the transaction one of surpassing interest to men of enterprise and capital, to whom the grand desideratum, "moreas," may be considered as morally certain.—The London, Brighton, and South Coast Railway Company, in order to extend facilities for suburban residence in connection with their line of railway, have officially announced an extensive reduction in their scale of charges for annual tickets on and after the 1st July next, as also a further accommodation in an increased number of trains.—Plans and particulars will be issued fourteen days before the sale, and will then be obtainable from Messrs.
